US-CUBA TENSION FLARES IN ASSEMBLY

Lake District Farm Bureau Has Meeting Here On Tuesday

The Kentucky Lake District Farm Bureau met last night at the Calloway County High School for a regular quarterly meeting. The meal was served by the Calloway A.H. Council.

Dale Scott and Bill Ball from the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation in Louisville were the guest speakers for the evening. They explained in detail the new Kentucky Farm Bureau Development Corporation Timber Marketing. The purpose of this new project for Farm Bureau is to assist small stumpage owners with better volume and price markets for woodland crop and to assist wood using industries in better long-range procurement and stabilization.

Mr. Ball explained the mutual problem was that small unorganized scattered stands result in small volume of marketable items, lack of information on value, quality and quantity available. Searching out markets or stumpage is costly as well as collection or delivery he pointed out, and the industry is unstable.

Mr. Ball said to better utilization and markets, stumpage owners need woods inventory and advice on management for which state services are available for the asking. There is a need for better knowledge of grades, lengths and prices. The combined volumes create better prices.

Ky. Farm Bureau Development Corporation with the local member's cooperation can act as consultants to County Boards and as sales agents for timber products the same as a stockyard broker or a tobacco warehouse acts for livestock and tobacco producers. It can pull together interested stumpage owners of a large farm organization into a strong sizeable and important body of stumpage bargainers.

A county committee has been appointed to study the need for such a service in this county.

Plans selections by Eddie Lee Grogan were enjoyed throughout the meal. Eddie Lee will represent Calloway County with talent for the District King-Queen, Talk Meet contest October 1 at the Kentucky Dam Village. Danny Kemp and Carolyn Muddick will compete with other county winners for the district King-Queen title. Charles Eldridge is Calloway County's Talk Meet entry.

Several counties ready to consider the state office for a sizeable red flag on farm machinery being driven on public highways at a height easy to be seen by motorists was recommended in an effort to cut down on accidents and a limited public welfare assistance for illegitimate children.

The next meeting of the Kentucky Lake District will be held in December in Graves County.

Seminar Is Planned For Next Monday

Gene Potts, solicitor for the Chicago Board of Trade for the Clayton Brokerage Company of St. Louis said today that a seminar will be held at the Noel Hotel on Monday at 7:45 p.m. He and Jack Salmon, a former Calloway Countyman also, will assist in the seminar.

The topic will be "Trading of Commodities Futures Successfully." Salmon is office manager of the St. Louis office.

The meeting is open to the public and local people are invited, he said.

Tappan Sales Contest Now Underway

A special contest aimed at increasing the sales of Tappan ranges produced by the Murray Division currently is being conducted in the Southwest region, according to Bob Wyman, general manager.

The sales contest covers a two-month period from August 1 to October 1. Wyman said. The company's southwest regional manager, Jim Swallen of Houston, Texas has 12 territory representatives competing for prizes in this contest.

Two winners will be selected and will be awarded cash prizes, trophies and a weekend trip to Murray for the winning salesmen and their wives.

While in Murray the sales contest winners will be honored at a special awards dinner and will enjoy a variety of recreational activities available in the local area.

Tappan salesmen who must face stiff competition every day in selling our ranges are extremely important to the overall success of the Murray operation," Wyman explained. "We hope to make their visit to Murray a memorable trip to show the appreciation of our employees and our community for their special efforts to increase sales of Murray products which, in turn, help improve job security of our employees and favorably affect the economy of the area."

The sales contest winners are expected to be announced the first week in October and probably arrive in Murray later in the month.

Dexter Woman Passes Away

Mrs. Nancy Chapman, age 80, passed away Wednesday at her home on Dexter route one. Her death was the result of complications following an extended illness.

Mrs. Chapman was the widow of the late Albert Chapman who died in 1953. She was a member of the Independence Methodist Church.

Survivors are her step-mother, Mrs. Allie Burken; Dexter route one; two daughters, Mrs. T. P. Jones and Mrs. Bob Jones both of Dexter route one; one brother, Robert Lee Burken; Dexter route one; five grandchildren, Mrs. Polk Tyler, Mrs. William Conner, Jackson, Mississippi, Joe Rob Haley, Almo, and Franklin Jones of Murray; and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 2:00 p.m. at the Independence Methodist Church with Rev. Layne Shunk, Rev. Louis Joiner, and Rev. Joseph Walker officiating. Interment will be in the McDaniel cemetery.

Serving as pallbearers will be nephews Leon Burken, Ollie Barnett, Obid Burken, Eugene Dick, E. G. Chapman, and Robert Burken.

The body is at the residence on Dexter route one where friends may call. The J. H. Churchill Funeral Home has charge of the arrangements.

Educational Television In The Schools Will Become Reality

By JOSEPH VARILLA

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — An airplane circling 20,000 feet above Montpelier, Ind., will be a vital factor in Kentucky's first major television assault next year on the minds of school children.

In the plane will be transmitting apparatus of Midwest Program of Airborne Television, Inc. (MPATI). The height allows the signal to be beamed greater distances.

MPATI, the state Education Department and the Kentucky Television Authority were given varying degrees of responsibility Wednesday by the state Board of Education in a plan to bring educational television to Kentucky schools as part of a state program.

The board approved a two-year experimental program involving the three groups. It classified the present school year as the planning year and next year as the experimental year. After that could come a monumental change in Kentucky's educational methods.

During 1963-64, the board will encourage as many school districts as possible to use educational television. They will use it on a trial basis.

The board especially will urge those districts in the 40-county area to which MPATI equipment will be able to transmit directly. Roughly, those 40 counties in the northern tier are bounded by the Ohio River and a southern extension from Boyd County on the east to Hancock County on the west.

But the board hopes other counties also will be able to receive the courses offered by MPATI over its network.

Four Stations Planned
The board wants at least 4 of 11 proposed educational television stations in the state on the air by next year. These stations—in Lexington, Bowling Green, Hazard and Louisville—would pick up the MPATI transmissions and send them via microwave or some other method to other Kentucky districts outside the 40-county area.

The board wants as many districts as possible to take the MPATI offerings next year to determine whether the courses meet the needs of the various schools.

Schools which take the offerings next year would become members of MPATI. Those in the 40-county direct-transmission area would pay a $200 membership plus $1 for each student over 200. For example, if a school has 1,000 pupils it would pay $1,000.

Some Pay Less
The schools who receive the offerings via the relay will pay a lesser fee because they will only receive about 50 or 60 percent of the MPATI lessons.

State officials said the quality of the MPATI television courses is excellent. Some of the best instructors available present the courses.

"It will not be possible in the foreseeable future for the state network to achieve the quality of course production available through MPATI on anything like a comparative cost basis," a report said. "Furthermore, in many elementary courses, for example, modern foreign languages, the regional approach to course production may have inherent values that make it superior to local course productions without regard to cost."

During the present year, MPATI will provide personnel to give technical assistance to schools which wish to become equipped to receive the telecast.

About midway through next year, state officials will get together with MPATI to determine if a long-range program using the offerings of MPATI is the best program for Kentucky.

including their win last year when they went undefeated. A large crowd is anticipated for the game and additional student bleachers have been added in Holland Stadium.

The 85 piece Murray High band, their new uniforms will add to the festivities. Admission will be students 75c and adults $1.25.

Coach Ty Holland said that an epidemic of bad colds has hit the squad this week which has hampered practice to some extent. However, the team would be in good condition by Friday. Bud Nall, Don Faughn, Nix and Danner have all been suffering from bad colds which has slowed them down to some extent, he said.

Coach Holland said that Tommy Wells will be able to play on Friday, but expressed some concern as to how much he could play, or how long he could hold out. He suffered a bad knee injury in the first game of the season.

"We're not lulled into any false sense of security by the fact that Mayfield has lost three games this year," Coach Holland said. The Cardinals were overpowered 12 to 0 by a strong Caldwell County, then edged by Fulton and Bowling Green, but they could have won either of these last games with a little luck," Holland added. "We know Mayfield has some good boys and they will start clicking one of these weeks. We hope that it's not Friday night against us."

Murray High has worked this week especially on pass defense and pass offense. The Tigers are expected to have to pull all the stops if they can overcome Mayfield. Fans are always assured of a top game when these two competitors meet. Murray has won the last two games over Mayfield.

Murrayans Leave To Attend Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Billington of the Murray Insurance Agency, left Murray on the 19th day of September for an extended business and pleasure trip throughout the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and to attend the wedding of George Edward Overbey, Jr. and Miss Jacquelyn O'Neil Arvin in the Calvary Baptist Church at Lexington, Kentucky, on September 22.

Others planning to attend the wedding from Murray are: Senator and Mrs. George E. Overbey, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Key Overbey, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry D. Lavender, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Tolley and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Tolley.

The trial of Cathryn Jones, charged with the murder of Ruben Cavitt, Jr. on December 9, 1961, ended yesterday in a hung jury.

The trial will be continued until the next term of court. On December 9 Cathryn Jones and her half-brother Robert Martin had an argument over some money and stepped outside the cafe owned by Nelson Banks on Cherry Alley apparently to shoot it out.

Each had a pistol and Martin shot Cavitt at her and she shot three times at him. Apparently Martin used a chrome plated Smith and Wesson 32 revolver and Cathryn Jones used a new 38 black Colt revolver.

Martin dropped his gun after firing once and ran away after a single exchange of shots. Apparently the one shot fired by Cathryn Jones struck Cavitt. She fired twice more at Martin as he fled in haste.

Mrs. Jones was charged with "willful murder" and Martin was charged with "malicious shooting with intent to kill."

The jury was dismissed yesterday until Monday when civil suits will be heard.

Mrs. Ella Key, age 75, died Wednesday morning at the Murray Hospital of a stroke after an illness of nine days.

Survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Tocco Bedwell, Hardin; one son, Herschel Key, Hazel; eight grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Key was a member of the Oak Grove Baptist Church. Funeral rites were held there this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. J. C. Hicks officiated the service. Burial was in the Oak Grove cemetery.

Husbands of the deceased's granddaughters served as pallbearers. The Millen Funeral Home of Hazel had charge of the arrangements.

Legion Auxiliary Will Meet Monday
The American Legion Auxiliary will meet Monday, September 24th, at 7:00 p.m. at the Legion Hall. Music will be the theme of the program. Mrs. Wayne Flora will be the guest soloist. Installation of officers will be held.

Hostess will be Mrs. David Henry.

Rummage Sale
There will be a rummage sale Saturday in the building next to Peoples Bank on North Fifth Street sponsored by the Penicost Street Young People of the Chestnut Street, Tabernacle Church.

Cuba Charges A Large Scale Attack Planned By America

By BRUCE W. MUNN

United Press International

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —

Tension between Cuba and the United States flared into the open in the General Assembly today with a Cuban charge that Washington is preparing large-scale aggression against Fidel Castro's island.

Cuban Ambassador Mario Garcia-Inchausti took the assembly rostrum to level the charge as soon as Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson had completed a major U. S. policy speech in the general debate.

Stevenson had touched only briefly on the Cuban situation. Speaking of what he listed as threats "in a dark and precarious world," he said:

"The government of Cuba, with moral and material support from outside, carries on a campaign of subversion and vituperation against its neighbors in the Western Hemisphere."

Garcia — Inchausti immediately demanded the right of reply. The leader of the North American delegation has accused the government of a campaign of slander and vituperation," he said.

"This is spoken before this august assembly by a man who, from this very platform, covered up the aggression of his government against our people, denying an aggression which a few days later was confessed by the President of the United States."

Charges Aggression
The Cuban said the United States was "violating our air space, infiltrating our country and sending mercenaries against our coasts."

"The aggression of his government has destroyed the houses of our workers, damaged our industry and killed thousands of our citizens, with bombs."

"You say you defend the charter of the United Nations. You tell your aggressive generals that in our country, more than 6 million Cubans will defend with something more than the sweet words of the charter."

"We reject our statement as a means of covering up a new large scale aggression which your country is preparing against our country."

Stevenson, in his policy speech, renewed the U. S. challenge to Russia to stop nuclear tests and agree to disarmament under U. N. inspection.

He disclosed that Russia has exploded almost twice as much nuclear energy as the United States in its tests.

"It may be interesting to you to know that since 1945, when it began, the United States has exploded nuclear devices in a total yield of about 140 megatons," Stevenson said. "Since 1949, when it began, the Soviet Union so far as we can tell, has exploded devices with a total of about 250 megatons."

Since Russia broke a three-year moratorium with a surprise series of tests last year, Stevenson said, it had exploded about 200 megatons.

Proposes Stronger U. N.
"The tests which the United States was compelled to undertake yielded about 25 megatons," he said.

The U. S. challenge to Russia came after Brazil had proposed an immediate Big Four foreign ministers' meeting in New York to work out a test ban treaty.

Stevenson called for "not just a strong, but a still stronger United Nations."

Stevenson argued for election to a strong secretary general with "full freedom and authority." The United States already has endorsed Acting Secretary General Thant for the post.

Stevenson urged the assembly to put the United Nations on a sound financial basis. He asked for approval of an International Court opinion that the organization's peace-keeping costs, such as in the Congo, are subject to assessment on all members.

Urges Bond Purchase
Speaking of Wednesday's congressional approval of the U. S.

purchase of U. N. bonds, on a matching basis with other countries, up to $100 million, Stevenson said.

"Other nations already have pledged $73 million. We hope and that's mild word for it—that these states, along with nations still unpledged, will bring the total pledged to $100 million. My government can then use its full authority to match that sum."

Stevenson said the United Nations had more important tasks than aiding colonial areas to self-determination, but he cautioned: "A nation is not to be created by a stroke of a pen."

He called for "sound procedures and adequate resources" with a "better sense of priorities" for the U. N. economic assistance programs.

"What is the point of our technological progress if it can launch men into space but cannot lift them from the swamps of poverty?" he asked.

Hails Common Market
He hailed the European Common Market, destined to be a target of Soviet opposition at this assembly, as "one of the great adventures in creative statesmanship of our age."

It was the first time in the U. S. policy speech he had been delivered by Washington's permanent representative. In previous years, the speech was delivered by the President, the secretary of state or an undersecretary.

"Here, then, are our twin tasks," Stevenson told the assembly. "To replace the arms race—as the President said last year—with a peace race, with a creative race in the production and exchange of goods and the elevation of living standards."

Byers is suffering from a chest wound from a .38 caliber pistol which allegedly was self-inflicted. Byers is charged with the murder of his wife last Sunday following an argument over an automobile.

Police reported that Mr. and Mrs. Byers, who lived near Hardin, had been married for about six weeks and had been arguing for some time over an automobile.

Mrs. Byers was out in the yard and Mr. Byers allegedly came out of the house with a .38 caliber pistol. She ran toward the road and Mr. Byers fired once hitting her in the leg. As she fell to the ground he fired again, police said, striking her in the back.

She succumbed at the Murray Hospital shortly after midnight on Sunday. The shooting occurred about 9:30 Sunday morning. Sheriff Woodrow Rickman is holding a warrant for Mr. Byers charging him with willful murder.

Assistance Payments $30,098 Last Month
FRANKFORT, Sept. 20 — Public assistance payments to Calloway Countians totaled $30,098 during the past month, the State Department of Economic Security announced this week.

Earle V. Powell, commissioner of economic security, said state-wide payments totaled more than $54 million during August and went to nearly 150,000 Kentucky residents.

A breakdown of the four categories of public assistance showed these figures for Calloway County: needy aged received a total of $23,770 in August, the needy blind $253; families receiving aid to dependent children $3,190; and the totally and permanently disabled $2,876.

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Bowling is a sport which involves throwing a ball as big as your head down a long hardwood alleyway with the purpose of knocking down ten wooden pins which are set up in a triangular formation.

If you hit just right, all of the pins will fall except one. If you hit just right but they all fall except one on each side of the group of pins. This is when you cannot figure out what happened.

This is also when you entertain thoughts of quitting the game.

Sometimes, especially if you bowl in a league, you seem to have some connection with the pins, which incidentally are fifty or sixty feet away, and you can knock them down with apparent ease. Any way you throw the ball, it seems to be guided by some unseen hand and you get all the pins.

If you don't get all the pins the first time, you get another try and if you knock the rest of them down that time that's called a spare.

Sometimes you seem particularly gifted and you get most of your spares.

At other times you feel as though you couldn't hit the inside of a barn with all the doors closed. You do everything just like you normally do, with the exception that the pins do not fall. This causes the hair to rise on the back of your neck and you curse under your breath. You breathe heavily and your face reddens.

You wonder how you ever got started on such a game anyway.

At the height of your discouragement, you get a particularly good game, and then you figure you may as well keep on bowling and maybe you'll get better.

If anyone wonders if he or she can help out at the student party next Tuesday, the answer is yes.

Help will be needed behind the long tables to hand out the hot dogs and cold drinks. As those who helped last year will testify, too much help would be difficult to have.

Just appear on the scene and you'll be put to work.

James Johnson has been growing some pines to be placed in the flower tubs around the square this fall. They were doing fine until just the other day, and they suddenly all died.

The Bank of Murray is expanding again. They are moving straight back into the area formerly occupied by Western Union and Parker Jewelry.

Contests Aid Young Miss to Gain Poise

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — This column could be titled the "before" and "after" of Jean Leslie Allen, 17, who still likes peanut butter sandwiches although her reign as America's Junior Miss has accented her to filet mignon.

Dr. subtitle the column, if you ease, one of advice to parents. Yes, encourage your daughter to compete in legitimate contests which beauty, personality and talent are the criteria by which she will be judged.

She stands to gain, as Jean did, scholarship, toward a full college education, early development of independence, judgment and responsibility, increased poise in meeting people, and further, the joy of being a celebrity during her reign.

Caution, however, don't let your daughter compete for the sake of the crown only. It might go to her head.

Only Temporary

And do instill in her the fact that if she does win the finals in one of the numerous contests, she is queen bee only temporarily. Next year someone replaces her and she gives up the spotlight to return to the everyday.

I'm talking specifically about Miss Allen, a blue-eyed brunette with a beauty reminiscent of an early Hedy Lamarr, because I was one of the five judges who selected her America's Junior Miss from 51 finalists last March in Mobile, Ala.

And, just as judges who this week will select a new Miss America at Atlantic City, N.J., will follow the course of the winner, I wanted to see what changes a title might create in a young lady.

Did she, a straight "A" student through high school, still plan to teach as she had announced when she entered the Miss Rhode Island contest leading up to the national one?

Plans Unchanged

The glamour treatment that goes with a queen's reign had not changed Miss Allen's plans for a career. Daughter of a pediatrician, Dr. Reginald Allen, of 131 Laurel Ave., Providence, R.I., she will enroll in a few days at Trinity College, Washington, D.C., to major in English. After graduation she plans to teach English in a Providence high school.

Had the title gone to her head? "The crown went on my head, not to it," said Miss Allen during a visit to New York.

New York was one of the last stops on a tour that began June 11, three days after high school graduation, and has taken her some 30,000 air miles around the nation.

Learns Much

Has the title changed her outlook?

"Actually," she said, "I feel the same. I'm the same person. But I've learned a lot and I wouldn't trade this summer for anything. I've learned how to meet people. I'm not scared any more when I stand up in front of an audience. It's the first time I've been semi-independent and really away from home." But when I give up the crown I won't mind joining the "Has Beens Anonymous." There's college ahead. And it will be fun to be able to reach in a cupboard at home in the next few days and haul out peanut butter when I want it. On the "Has Beens Anonymous" butter, it's been filed mignon. And hotel suites and jet flights and convertibles to drive you in from the airport...

"I just might tell mother when I get home what I tell the hotel room service... breakfast at 8 a.m. if you please. Just to see what she'd do."

What FHA Means To High School Girl

Future Homemakers of America is the national organization of girls studying homemaking in high school.

F.H.A. means to me a chance to get together with other girls who have the same interest. We have goals to work toward in community, state, and national organizations.

Future Homemakers believe that teenagers and adults can work together, each gaining from the other. In this manner we learn the law of democracy. Our motto, "Toward New Horizons" is a challenge to youth and expresses the idea or purposes of our organization.

As Future Homemakers of America we believe that the homes of America are in the hands of its youth.

Cooperation and high ideals become important to an F.H.A. member and the organization instills in each member a great desire to achieve new horizons.

Backstairs At The Whitehouse

by Merriman Smith

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House: Want to hear something chilling?

There are pony hoof marks all over the White House golf green. When former President Dwight D. Eisenhower hears about this, there could be new political warfare.

Caroline Kennedy's two ponies normally are not allowed to roam, but they did on at least one occasion and the once mirror-smooth putting green now resembles the beginner's tee at a public driving range.

Also there are some spike marks on the green made by high-fashion heels of ladies who sometimes did not have the same reverence for golf that existed in the White House a couple of years back.

Rene Verdon, Mrs. Kennedy's French chef, is getting television offers—and turning them down. If Verdon wants to continue cooking at the White House, he'll continue his anonymity.

Once he departs the Kennedy kitchens, however, he should be able to name his own price at virtually any hotel or restaurant in the country. And imagine how a Verdon cookbook would sell.

A not entirely reverent soul comes up with a fine idea for healing the breach between business and President Kennedy. Sell the sponsorship of his televised news conference to U.S. Steel.

One of the biggest laugh-pro-vokers around the White House in many moons: "Who's In Charge Here?" A collection of news photographs of the mighty Kennedy, Macmillan, Khrushchev, Nehru, Truman, Eisenhower, et al with hilarious, imaginary dialogue by Gerald Gardner.

From this slim little paperback comes one idea which the Democrats find utterly devastating—that Richard M. Nixon still wants to debate with his political opponents, but only on radio.

One woman had to look at the President three times, from about a foot away, before she could comprehend. When she got the idea, her howl of glee reached siren intensity.

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 215 The first national cemeteries designated as such were authorized for the burial of military dead under an Act of Congress in 1862. Naturally one of the largest was laid out near Sharpsburg, Md., after the carnage beside Antietam Creek. The graves of some 4,823 Union and Confederate soldiers who fell that terrible day are there still.

Those men came from a dozen states North and South, although the heaviest loss was the First Texas Regiment. Of 226 on its roll, 82% were casualties at Antietam. It is interesting at this point to note which Northern states supplied the most men — volunteers and draftees — to Lincoln's armies. New York sent 448,850, of whom more than ten per cent were killed in action, succumbed to wounds, or died otherwise in the service. Pennsylvania was second with 337,936 troops and 33,183 deaths; Ohio third with 213,180 troops and 35,475 deaths; Illinois fourth with 259,092 troops and 34,834 deaths in the service.

Completely re-styled for 1963 Ford's top-of-the-line Galaxie 500 XL convertible, shown above, offers luxury car features, such as bucket seats and console, a 260-cubic-inch Challenger V-8 engine, custom-designed interior appointments, and a convertible top when it is lowered into the storage well, and special 500 XL emblems mounted on the front fenders immediately behind the wheel openings. Through-improved lubricants and special production procedures, Ford has been able to eliminate the historic 1,000-mile inspection on all of its 1963 Galaxies.

The 500 XL convertible is one of 14 Galaxie hardtop, convertible, station wagon and sedan models scheduled to go on display in dealers showrooms on Friday, September 28.

Troops Back Up The Government In Rebel Rise Of Peronists

By DAVID F. BELNAP
United Press International
BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Troops and warships operating under a special army-navy-air force command were reported converging on Buenos Aires today to support the government against rebel forces at Camp Mayo, 20 miles northwest of the capital.

There was no immediate report of hostile action by the rebels, who said merely that "if we are attacked or pursued, we will defend ourselves."

Truck convoys were bringing 1,000 troops here from the provincial garrison at Exalt and the anti-aircraft school in Mar Del Plata. A trainload of troops was arriving from the airborne school at Cordoba.

Newspaper reports which could not be confirmed immediately said the American-made light cruiser Nueve De Julio (formerly the USS Boise) was on the way here from the naval base at Puerto Belgrano.

Supporters of ousted ex-President Juan D. Peron sped through the streets of suburban Palermo early today, scattering propaganda leaflets from the windows of their automobiles. No other disorders were reported.

Reports from Camp Mayo said rebel Gen. Juan C. Ongania, who proclaimed himself commander of the army Wednesday, had set up his headquarters at the cavalry school on the big army base.

Newsman on the scene said heavy artillery emplacements at the camp had been reinforced, while mechanized patrols scouted the approaches to the base.

President Jose M. Guido decreed the formation of the special three-service command Wednesday.

Russians Extend Lead In Testing Of Weapons Says Report

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Russians once more are rapidly extending their lead over the West in the testing of giant nuclear weapons.

The current Soviet test series, "atomic sources" said today, proves again that the Russians are more interested in perfecting city-killers than in developing small "limited war" weapons for battle-field use.

The United States, these sources believe, still excels in the smaller weapon field.

Since Russia resumed atmospheric testing in early August, nearly 70 per cent of the explosions have been of "megaton" size or bigger. A megaton is the power equivalent of a million tons of TNT.

Ten out of 14 Soviet explosions announced here by the Atomic Energy Commission have been of megaton caliber. They have ranged from one or two megatons to 30.

The proportion of giants in the current series to date has been even greater than it was in the 1961 Soviet program when about 50 per cent of the explosions were in the megaton range.

The United States this year has exploded 27 nuclear test devices in the Pacific. Only six were megatonners or bigger. They represented about 22 per cent of the total. The largest of the big U.S. weapons was a pigmy compared to the biggest of the shots.

All this does not necessarily mean the Russians have a bigger arsenal than the West of nuclear weapons ready for use. Most U.S. experts believe the West has the larger multi-purpose stockpile.

Nor does it mean that Russia's weapons are more efficiently mated to the missiles designed to carry them. The aim of atomic weapons is to increase the destructive power of warheads without increasing their size and weight.

President Kennedy reported last March that the Russians in their 1961 series made "great gains" in boosting this yield-to-weight ratio.

England To Assess Effects Of Approval Of Common Market

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called in his cabinet today to assess the effects of the Commonwealth's conditional approval for Britain's plans to join the European Common Market.

The Commonwealth prime ministers Wednesday issued a final communique which said in effect the decision is up to Britain.

But it clearly reflected the concern of the 15 overseas leaders that the move might cut into their own trade.

The communique called for careful protection for the Commonwealth's vital economic interests, and reserved final judgment until all the entry terms are ironed out.

Many Britons share the Commonwealth's deep distrust of British Common Market membership and they, like the prime ministers, are likely to reserve judgment.

Strong criticism of Macmillan's plans early in the conference may have lost the British government considerable voter support.

Ten days of lobbying by Macmillan, Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys and Lord Privy Seal Edward Heath apparently failed to dispel the fears of the Commonwealth leaders.

JUNK MAIL HIT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House members Wednesday gave up their free "junk mail" privileges in the face of Senate opposition.

The decision, on a 246-125 roll-call vote, was an about face for the House. Last fall, the House expanded congressional privileges over violent Senate protest and stood fast for it in a record vote last April.

Wednesday action meant that all franked, free mail from congressmen will have to bear complete names and addresses of the recipients.

Weekly TVA Newsletter

TVA said today that 2,995 farms participated in its educational farm test-demonstration program during the 1962 fiscal year. They were located in 31 states; more than half were in the Tennessee Valley.

The farm test-demonstration program is one of two educational programs in which new fertilizers are introduced to farmers and the use of the new materials is studied. The second educational branch is the distributor demonstration program which is conducted in cooperation with whole-sale fertilizer distributors.

The test-demonstration program was active in 24 non-valley states, one more than last year. Arizona, New Mexico, and West Virginia were not represented in 1961 but were active this year. Kansas and Michigan were active last year, but were not on the 1962 list.

"Improved fertilizers can be the beginning of better things on the farm," Lewis B. Nelson, Manager of Agricultural and Chemical Development, said. "We realize that fertilizers within themselves are not the answers to principal problems facing farmers. Yet fertilizers often open the door to a series of needed adjustments and development of the whole farm into an efficient business unit."

"In the farm test-demonstration program, farmers try out and demonstrate the proper use of fertilizers in carefully planned farming operations. In the Tennessee Valley particularly, this has been broadened to include a 'whole farm' approach."

"The distributor demonstration program introduces new and improved fertilizers throughout the country, promotes fertilizer practices recommended by the agricultural colleges but not yet widely adopted by farmers, reduces the cost of fertilizers through more concentrated and economical fertilizer mixtures, and encourages the adoption by industry of improved fertilizer production processes and products."

Nelson said that during the 1962 fiscal year "high interest" in TVA fertilizer research continued. Forty-three licenses for use of TVA chemical developments were issued. Of these, 26 were on liquid fertilizer processes, 5 for manufacture and use of the ammoniator-granulator, 3 for a granular diammonium phosphate production process, and 3 on the manufacture of cryolite. Of six others, 2 were for use of the superphosphate cone mixer, 2 for sulfur dioxide recovery processes, and 1 each on the production of superphosphoric acid and the rotating electric phosphorus furnace.

TVA issues licenses for use of its fertilizer and manufacturing process developments free of charge but on a non-exclusive basis. By the close of the year TVA had issued 307 such licenses to 207 industrial concerns for use in 304 plants.

Archie V. Slack, Chief of TVA's Applied Research Branch, Office of Agricultural and Chemical Development, is participating in two international fertilizer meetings in southern Europe. He is attending the meeting of the International Superphosphate Manufacturers' Association in Avignon, France, now being held (Sept. 17-20) where he is leading discussion on a paper on "The Comparative Agronomic Value of Fertilizers in Solid and Liquid Form," prepared by a British scientist. He also will attend the Centre International des Engrais Chimiques in Naples, Italy, Oct. 25-26, where he will present a paper on "Fertilization with Liquid Fertilizers." While in Europe he will visit a number of fertilizer manufacturing plants.

PHS AWARDS GRANTS

DIKE FOR MIAMI

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — U. S. Army Engineers have recommended a three-mile stone and dirt dike across Biscayne Bay as Miami's best protection from hurricanes. The Army said Monday the $2.7 million dike would provide a high degree of protection for the thickly populated waterfront but could not stop tidal flooding on the Miami Beach bayfront.

Tough new '63 Chevrolet Trucks are here!

...THE ONES THAT WHIPPED THE BAJA RUN...TOUGHEST UNDER THE SUN... TO SHOW THE WORTH OF NEW ENGINES, FRAMES AND SUSPENSIONS!

Sometimes the caravan crept along for hours in low gear. It took 17 days to go 1,066 miles! This is the road near Loreto.

Millions of years ago nature fashioned a proving ground for trucks that man can never duplicate. Today it is known as the Baja (bah' hah) California Peninsula, Mexico.

These pictures give you only a bare idea of the place. The road is fine for 140 miles below the U.S. border. Then the beating begins. Rocks and hard-baked ruts bang, jab and jerk the trucks from stem to stern. Loose sand makes them struggle and strain. Dust chokes them. Heat roasts them. Rivers trench them.

The Baja Run took this Chevrolet truck caravan 17 days to go the 1,066 miles. All the trucks performed magnificently. Not one was forced to drop out because of mechanical difficulty.

Trucks that can take this kind of beating can take on your toughest truck jobs. Come in now and see tough quality-built '63 Chevrolet trucks with all their new improvements.

A BIT FROM THE BIBLE

by GEORGE M. LANDIS

by Geo. M. Landis

JESUS WEPT (John 11:35)
The shortest verse in the Bible is freighted with rich meaning. In the days of the early church, one of the scholars deleted this verse from his manuscript of John's Gospel on the ground that weeping was unbecoming to the Son of God. But, thank God, "the Scriptures cannot be broken," and the two words are still in the Book, ministering comfort to God's people.

The fact that Jesus wept shows that weeping is not sinful. Some condemn tears as a mark of human weakness and manifesting a lack of faith. But to the average person weeping is a divinely provided safety valve. It is not wicked to weep when sorrow and bereavement come. The Lord Jesus was absolutely without sin, yet three times we read of Him weeping.

The true humanity of our Lord was revealed in His weeping. Though Son of God and God the Son, He is also the Son of Man. Weeping is common to mankind. Animals do not weep. Regardless of where man dwells, or what the color of his skin, or the advancement of his civilization, he possesses tear glands. It is comforting to know that our Saviour is true man as well as God.

His tears revealed the deep sympathy of our Lord. Smiles and tears are vital parts of a universal language. People may not understand a single syllable of each other's language, yet everyone understands a smile and no one can mistake the meaning of a tear. In John's Gospel we see the Lord sharing the joy of a wedding and performing His first miracle in that atmosphere of rejoicing. In the same Gospel we see Him weeping with those who weep, sharing in their sorrow, even though He knew that in a few moments He would by an even greater miracle dispell the clouds of grief and the Bethany home with the sunshine of resurrection life.

Freshmen Star In OVC Games

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The first set of statistics produced by Ohio Valley Conference football teams this fall must have left some of the league's freshmen wondering today what's so tough about the college game.

Three of the five leading ball carriers in the league after last Saturday's game involving five conference members are freshmen, and the other two are sophomores.

John Burt, former Ft. Thomas Highlands star now fullbacking for Western Kentucky as a freshman after missing last season with a broken leg, led the OVC in yards rushing with 66 in 11 carries against Southeast Missouri.

Runner-up in total yards and tops in average per try was Jim Harvey, a Middle Tennessee sophomore halfback with 63 yards in only four carries against Austin Peay for a thumping 15.8 average.

Tommy Glover, Murray fullback from Henderson, Ky., gained 52 yards in 10 carries against East Tennessee; freshman halfback Dave Holtzclaw of East Tennessee netted 51 yards in 12 tries, and Jackie Pope rolled up 45 yards in seven tries for Middle Tennessee.

A veteran, Western Kentucky senior quarterback Jim Daily topped the OVC in two major departments the first week, leading the passers with six completions in seven attempts for 100 yards and two touchdowns, and also was tops in total offense with a net gain of 113 yards. Tony Fioravanti of Murray was second in total offense, with 83 yards.

All conference teams will be in action this weekend for the first time. The schedule, with all games to be played Saturday night, has Western Kentucky at East Tennessee and Morehead at Middle Tennessee in conference play; Eastern Kentucky at Tampa, Tennessee Tech host to Chattanooga; Murray at Western Illinois, and Austin Peay at Carson Newman in non-conference games.
